

SSED PhD and MA theses 2003–2004

2004

Doctor of Philosophy

Robie, David Journalism education in the South Pacific, 1975–2000
(History/Politics)

Master of Arts

- Awira, Ngutu M Labour market and industrial relations facing globalization: the case study of Kiribati (Sociology (Industrial Relations))
- Balgovind, Saubhag Job satisfaction of the employees of the Colonial War Memorial Hospital (Management and Public Administration)
- Dorah, Rudolf Analysis of the reconciliation of the conflicting interests of the distant water fishing nations and the coastal states: a case study of the treaty on fisheries between the governments of certain Pacific Island countries and the Government of the United States of America (Marine Affairs)
- Eugenio, Ofelia Women informal sector participants in the National Capital District, Papua New Guinea: constraints and opportunities (Development Studies)
- Gibson, Dawn More than smiles: employee empowerment facilitating the delivery of high quality, consistent services in tourism and hospitality (Tourism and Hospitality)
- Kausimae, Paul Impact of the tuna industry on the host economy: a case study of Solomon Islands (Economics)
- Kumar, Vijendra A study of personal and situational variables of job satisfaction: case study of the I & J staff at the USP, Laucala Campus (Management and Public Administration)
- Manoa, Milosi Tuvalu women and the New Zealand labour scheme in Auckland (Sociology)
- Skoljeth, Helene Globalisation and poverty in Fiji (Development Studies)
- Toba, Hideharu The senior overseas volunteer program in Japan's Official Development Assistance: case studies from Fiji and Samoa (Development Studies)

2003*

Master of Arts

- | | |
|-----------------|---|
| Kaoma, Tekaahei | Local government in small developing states: the case of island councils in Kiribati. (Management and Public Administration) |
| Tuitoga, Anare | The politics of Fijian development: a case study of the people of the vanna of Naloto and the May 2000 coup (History/Politics) |

*The bulk of the 2003 theses were listed in vol. 26, 2004.
